Case and Kidd — the players I fear

— Jimmy Rimmer

JIMMY Case of Liverpool and Brian Kidd of Bolton Wanderers are the hot-shots that Aston Villa keeper Jimmy Rimmer fears the most.

"I used to play with Brian at Manchester United so I know from first hand experience what a shot he can pack.

"He really hits the ball with power and they always seem to dip and swerve.

"Jimmy Case hits the ball much more cleanly. When he shoots it comes straight at the goal. Fortunately I can't remember either of them being on target against me," said the former Arsenal star.

"Former Brighton midfield international Peter O'Sullivan can also pack a shot. I remember a save I made from his last season

"He was positioned just inside our penalty area and hit a shot that was going for the top corner.

"I flung myself full length to put it away for a corner — but it had some power behind it.

"With shots from long range the slightest touch a keeper can get to the ball will deflect it quite a way," added Jimmy.

Hughes almost fooled me

— Jim Platt

THE whole of Anfield applauded Jim Platt after the Middlesbrough keeper had leapt to turn away a fierce shot from Emlyn Hughes.

But while the crowd were savouring the magic of the save, Northern Ireland international Jim was criticising himself for not holding it.

"Emlyn hit one of the hardest shots I can ever remember facing. He took a free kick 25 yards out.

"I was confident that I could hold it because it was just the right height, but it must have swerved because I was lucky to tip it over," said Jim.

"One crack effort that did beat me came from Trevor Cherry at Elland Road last season. He has always had a reputation for hitting the ball hard and now I know why.

Jim also has a surprise choice for a top-shot. Manchester City's young defender Tommy Caton, who nearly beat him earlier this season in a 2-2 draw.

"The youngster smashed a ball from 40 yards and I could only parry it away. Unfortunately Kevin Reeves was on hand to stab home the rebound.

"I will always think of that effort as Tommy Caton's goal. The shot had terrific force behind it."

Rioch's rocket broke my finger

says Graham
Moseley

tremendous power!

Right: Graham Moseley
— painful experience with Rioch.

BRIGHTON goalkeeper Graham Moseley will long remember one of the hardest shots he ever faced . . . it broke his little finger!

It was in his Derby County days and Graham was playing in a pre-season training session with team-mate Bruce Rioch.

The attempt to save Bruce's shot saw him miss the start of the season.

"I will always remember saving a tremendous shot from Peter Taylor of Spurs, too," said Graham.

It was in the 1976-77 season when they were relegated to the Second Division and we won 8-2 at the Baseball Ground.

"He cut inside a defender and let one go from the edge of the box with his left foot. I can remember flying across the goal and punching the ball away for a corner," said Graham.

Former Spurs and England international Martin Chivers ace hit a thunderous shot that left Graham absolutely stranded in a League game at White Hart Lane five years ago.

"Martin was playing in midfield and broke away to hit a blaster from nearly 30 yards out. It just flew into the net. I made a vain attempt to save it, but the shot beat me all the way," added Graham.

Hot-shots

football? Four top
'keepers give their views

Hill 'screamer' was in vain
recalls Paul Cooper

'MERLIN' weaved a magic spell and dumbfounded Ipswich keeper Paul Cooper.

Gordon Hill — known affectionately as Merlin to the fans in his Manchester United days — had volleyed a screamer from out on the right wing.

But the 'goal' was in vain. For the tremendous solo effort was disallowed for offside.

"It was one of the hardest shots I have ever faced — and from such an unbelievable angle," said Paul.

"He was particularly good at hitting the ball on the volley — and there was always tremendous force behind it."

Paul got his own back on the winger in a return match at Old Trafford when he tipped a cracker over the bar for a corner.

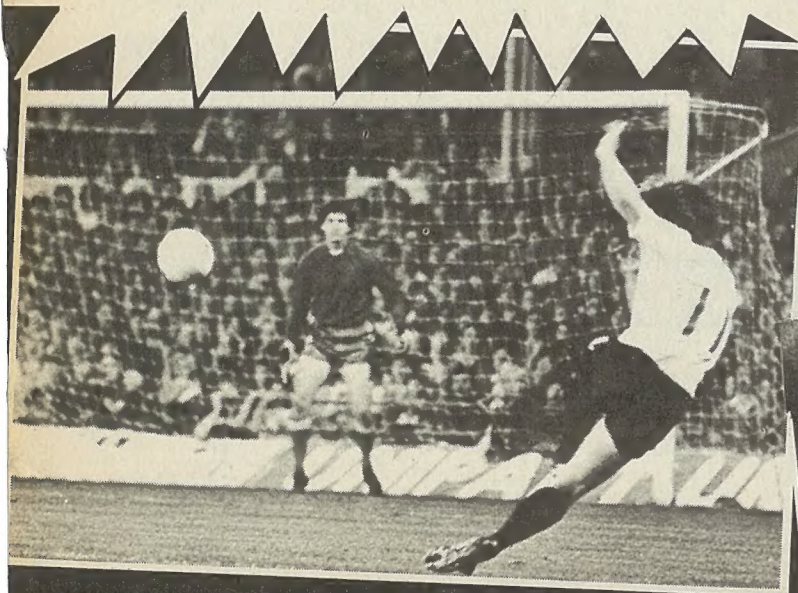

It turned out to be a match-winning save as Ipswich went on to win 1-0.

"I don't think that there is anyone in the game today who hits the ball as hard as Peter Lorimer of Leeds.

"But at Ipswich we have a player who can match anyone — defender Kevin Beattie."

SOCCER has come in for some rough treatment this season from the media because of the violence that has sparked from some of the criminals it appears to attract.

There's no denying either that hooliganism is a key factor in the drop in attendances at matches.

But don't let's blame the players... they have given us some great entertainment and a hatful of goals — and goals are our business.

We are the magazine which gives you goals to set you and the players talking.

Inside today, Kevin Keegan, Andy Gray and Alan Biley tell you about hat-tricks they have scored, Arthur Graham tells you about his Golden Goal and John Richards, Alan Sutherland, Brian Little and George McCluskey re-live the cup-winning goals they have scored.

And there are goals galore in our exclusive MATCH FACTS pages which pin-point the very latest details about who scored, where and when.

Willie's walk

THE TROUBLE torn career of former Scotland and West Brom star Willie Johnston took yet another turn for the worse when he was ordered off for the 13th time in the fiery League Cup clash against Aberdeen at Ibrox. Playing in his fifth match for Rangers since his £40,000 move from Vancouver Whitecaps he came on as sub for Tommy McLean, clashed with Aberdeen's John McMaster and was promptly ordered inside. McMaster received treatment for stud marks on his neck.

Speedy Saints

REFEREE J. B. Worrall found time for a quick word with Kevin Keegan during a short pause in the recent all-action match between Sunderland and Southampton at Roker Park.

"I've never known a team like Southampton for going from defence to attack so quickly," gasped an out-of-breath Mr Worrall.

"Nor me," puffed Kevin. "You're not the only one having a job keeping up!"

Alex back for good

ABERDEEN youngster Alex McLeish has opted for a place in the back four at Pittodrie and now looks set to realise his enormous potential with the Scottish champions.

The 21-year-old flame-haired Alex has switched between midfield and defence and has occupied both spots for Scotland as well as his club.

But now manager Alex Ferguson is playing him regularly at the back.

"I miss midfield because you are more involved for longer periods," Alex told Match. "But I have advantages of height and strength which I can make better use of at the back."

He has never regretted his move north from Barrhead four years ago when he was snatched from under the noses of Celtic and Rangers by top scout Bobby Calder.

"My Dad was all for me joining the Dons," he adds. "He reckoned I would get the chance to break through more quickly than with either of the old Firm. He was right."

Aberdeen's Alex McLeish, who was snatched from under the noses of Rangers and Celtic, has settled into the back four.

Goddard—by Allen

CLIVE Allen is predicting a hatful of goals for former team-mate Paul Goddard, the player who followed him out of the QPR gates but remained in the Second Division.

"It would be nice to meet Paul again next season in the First Division. West Ham will always create chances and Paul is just the one to take advantage," Clive says.

"He's quick, brave and will make good use of the headed knock-ons from David Cross."

Clive, himself, is pleased with life at Crystal Palace and looking forward to the Boxing Day clash with short-time employers, Arsenal.

"I bear no malice against Terry Neill — despite the fact that he got rid of me before I'd even played a League game."

"Terry told me that his new 4-3-3 system hadn't worked out in pre-season games and he was going to revert to 4-4-2 which would mean me being left out."

"I wouldn't have minded that. I'd have been prepared to wait."

Clough's 'out of sight' says Ian Wallace

IAN Wallace is happy to be working with that feared managerial duo Brian Clough and Peter Taylor — because he hardly ever sees them!

"I think sometimes you can get too used to a manager," Nottingham Forest's Ian told Match.

"At Coventry Gordon Milne was much more involved with the team, but you don't see so much of Brian Clough and Peter Taylor."

"Obviously it's early days for me but I have been very impressed by their ability to motivate players."

"My role has changed slightly at Forest. I'm not being asked to do as much defending."

MATCH WEEKLY

THE Soviet gymnasts are in London this month for an exhibition and judging by this picture sent to me by Midlands photographer Bill Goulden, Birmingham's Keith Bertschin (left) and Archie Gemmill are after auditions!

Despite their efforts neither connected with this cross in the 0-0 draw with Manchester United, though I hear the Red Arrows are watching their progress closely!

RED ARROWS?

Red-hot favourites

LIVERPOOL emerged as favourites to land the only domestic trophy that has eluded them when they pulled Third Division strugglers Swindon out of the hat when the League Cup Third Round draw was made.

Though Swindon are famed cup fighters and former winners of the trophy, their form suggests a visit to Anfield next week will end their dreams for another year.

The draw has also thrown up a couple of 'Capital crackers' with the clash of the big signings Archibald (Spurs) v Allen (Palace) and Charlton v West Ham.

Stockport, shock winners over Sunderland, pulled out a plum in the shape of Arsenal.

Finally, what have Don Masson, Howard Kendall and Clive Woods in common? It's simple — all take on their former clubs... Don against QPR, Howard against Birmingham and Clive against Ipswich in the big East Anglian derby.

It's looks a fascinating week of matches why not join me and predict the outcome of the games. I certainly reckon I can do better than my colleague Paul Stratton (see Paul's Predictions later in this issue) at picking winners.

Match Chat

Double tragedy

MONTROSE defender Keith Joss recently made his comeback after 17 months out of action with a broken leg. In his first match against Arbroath he broke the same leg again — in a different place! How's that for bad luck.

'I'll return' — Aleksic

"I HIT the ground and could feel my front teeth resting on my tongue. I knew at once it was bad..."

Milija Aleksic's words after his horrific mid-air collision with Joe Jordan in Tottenham's FA Cup victory at Manchester United described the pain — but can't explain the setback to his career.

He had enjoyed a marvellous game up to then and a reaction save from Sammy McIlroy won BBC TV's Save of the Season competition.

The mouth and knee injuries finished Milija for the rest of the season but his long road to recovery is almost complete and he'll soon be knocking on the White Hart Lane first-team door.

But he said: "To be honest I'm not worrying about first-team football at the moment. I'm just pleased to be playing in the Reserves again.

"I'm not going to start worrying about colliding with people — the time I start to fear contact is the time to pack in."

SPOT THE STAR

WHO's the famous face behind the lens?

I'm giving a Match football away to the first correct entry plucked out of the total postbag on September 26.

It's not as tough a teaser as it looks, especially if I reveal that it was taken at Wembley in August and the player featured topped two polls last season.

Again I was bowled over by the bumper entry to my caption contest on August 30, which showed French International Didier Six and Argentinian Daniel Passarella on hands and knees.

Many of you went for gags about lost contact lenses and undersoil heating, but the one that caught my eye came from 10-year-old Alan Stitt, of 15 Selcroft Road, Purley, Surrey.

He has Six saying: "I go in for the low crosses!"

Nice one, Alan, and a super football is on its way to you.

Entries please on a postcard to Matchline (Camera), Match Weekly, Midgate House, Midgate, Peterborough.

Chart Soccer

the great football game that you play on your own.

What is Chart Soccer?

A complete system of charts, dice and cards for you to organise true to life league and cup competitions for all your favourite teams. Includes a 'Superleague' — the FA Cup, the FL Cup, all 3 European Cups, and the European International Championships and the World Cup Finals.

How is it played?

All these great competitions are played in a super Chart Book. You write in your teams and the fixtures are automatically organised for you! Each match depends on recent results, league positions and ground advantage. Watch out for shock scores, vital championship and relegation matches, long unbeaten runs and so on — just like real life! Top teams progress into Europe and you can look back at all the statistics as you play each season. All this, plus the European Championships in full, and you can re-live the World Cup Finals!

Is it really good?

Players and parents say: 'fantastic', 'gives hours of enjoyment', 'incredibly well designed', 'value for money', 'exciting', 'the best football game EVER'.

MATCH writer Anthony Hawkswell this week comes face to face with two of the country's brightest young prospects.

From overalls to an England shirt

THE ROKER roar greeted Shaun Elliott as he stepped out to make his debut for England B last season.

For the 23-year-old Sunderland defender was playing his first game in an England shirt in front of his home fans and just a few miles from his birthplace.

"The match was the highlight of my career so far. Pulling on an England shirt and playing in front of my own crowd was incredible.

"It is every player's ambition to play for his country — but on your home ground it really is the icing on the cake."

Over 14,000 fans turned up to see England beat Spain 1-0 thanks to a goal from Russell Osman in an unforgettable game for Shaun.

It was a dream come true for Elliott, who once thought he had missed out on a career in football altogether.

"I was aware that a number of teams were interested in me as a schoolboy — but none of the initial enquiries were followed up.

"When I left school I worked in a garage as a mechanic for over a year. I thought my chance had gone."

But the break came when Shaun was spotted by a Sunderland scout playing for his local Haydon Bridge team.

SKY BLUE TARGET

THE HONEYMOON is over for Coventry City's exciting young kids. This season they have been set a top six target by manager Gordon Milne.

The Midlands youngsters — who surprised many people last season, including champions Liverpool — know exactly what is required of them this term.

And their 18-year-old England Youth international Tommy English is convinced that this season City will be challenging at the top of the table.

"Our target is the top six and we are capable of that. As far as I see it we don't have too much to worry about," says Tommy.

Top teams like Liverpool, Arsenal, Aston Villa, Manchester United and Ipswich will always be up there at the top — but after that there's little to choose from."

And Tommy, who helped blast Manchester United out of the League Cup with a late goal at Old Trafford in the first leg, believes that United are still a team to watch.

"Although they had an indifferent start to the season people forgot that they have been playing without four internationals.

"They lost 1-0 here, but played well against us. When they are back to full strength they will cause a lot of problems," he said.

Although Tommy expects Coventry to do well he knows that this season will be much harder than last.

"We were an unknown quantity last term and teams gave us more space. This year we'll be marked much tighter."

But the star treatment from defenders does not seem to have blunted his goalscoring instincts. As well as his Old Trafford shocker he also scored against Arsenal in the League to notch up two goals in the first two weeks of the season.

'Pressure? We'll cope'

COVENTRY City's youngsters have not suffered from the pressure of life at the top — even though other First Division teams are paying them a lot more attention.

"Many of us have come through the youth ranks together so there's been no problem adjusting to the first team — its just been a natural progression," said Tommy.

"If I had made it into the first team on my own I suppose there could have been a problem — but as we all came in together we have been able to cope with the problems."

On a personal note Tommy has his own target for the season — a place in the England Under 21 team.

"I would love to represent England at full international level — but at the moment I am aiming for a place in the young side.

"I have already experienced success in an England shirt — I won a Youth Cup medal in Spain last year — and it would be great to play for the full side at Wembley.

"On the club side I would love to play for Coventry in the Cup Final."

Off the field, with his jet-black hair neatly groomed it is not difficult to spot that Tommy's idol is the great Elvis Presley!

How it feels to be a giant-killers victim!

SUNDERLAND were one of the first giant killing victims of the new season when they were knocked out of the second round of the League Cup by Fourth Division Stockport County. They lost 2-1 at home to go out 3-2 on aggregate.

"It was a disastrous match for us," says Shaun "and one that is best forgotten. Stockport played very well and deserved their victory.

"After a defeat like that it makes the players even more determined to make up for it in the next game. That's why many beaten teams bounce back with a good result.

"A bad display like that usually takes me a day to get over. I will go home and keep waking up at night going over my mistakes.

"It is good to get back to training where we can forget about it."

"It must rate as the best I've scored," Andy told MATCH WEEKLY, "especially as it was against Liverpool and Ray Clemence.

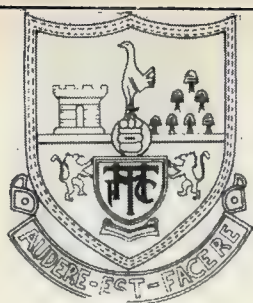

"Billy Gibson played a free-kick square to me ten yards inside the Liverpool half and Terry McDermott came to block the cross to the far post, but then stood off me. I took it forward and just whacked it.

"I was really pleased with the way it flew into the net."

Substitute Martin Henderson grabbed a second Leicester goal 11 minutes from the end.

TARGET HEADING

THERE'S no better sight in football than a big striker climbing at the far post to thud a header into the roof of the net.

Dad will tell you about men like John Charles, Jeff Astle, Bobby Smith and Ron Davies of their era.

And today none rate better than Albion's Young England goalscorer Cyrille Regis, who completes his stint at the Match Weekly Soccer School with some tips on heading for goal.

Eyes fixed firmly on the ball timing your spring to hit it firmly with your forehead.

A STRIKER can expect to receive crosses at all angles and heights. So it's always important to work on the timing of your headers.

As a kid I used to spend hours heading a ball against a wall, even though I started my career as a winger. And those hours helped to develop my timing when I switched to central attacker.

Because of my build I've got natural spring in my legs, but you may not have this advantage so it's important to practise your timing so your run or jump gets you to the ball first.

As it hits the ball, your head must be moving as fast as possible. Throw your head towards it and whether you are coming full on or side on to the goal strike the ball with the front part of your forehead, keeping your eyes wide open.

One good tip the boss is always telling us is whenever possible head down and pick a spot where the back of the net meets the ground.

Head it at the line and the bounce can take the pace off it and give the 'keeper a second bite at it.

Stratton on Saturday

Keegan's a winner

TITLE contenders Southampton today play hosts to League champions Liverpool down at the Dell in a match that belongs to one man . . . Kevin Keegan.

Up against his old club for the first time since his dramatic return to English soccer, all eyes will be on the England captain to produce something a bit special.

Like a terrier dog with a new owner Kevin will be snapping at the heels of his former master.

And I believe the gods will smile on the new south-coast 'Saint' and his team-mates to bring them victory.

One man with different ideas however will be Liverpool skipper Phil Thompson. But he's only too aware of the tough challenge ahead.

"I know most of his tricks having watched him progress at Liverpool and with England but he's a hard lad to tie down . . . even in a five-a-side match in training," Phil told me.

Match of the Day

But that doesn't mean the champions will man-to-man mark their former team-mate.

"The last time we ever marked anyone like that was years ago when Alan Ball was playing for Everton.

"And Kevin will know that. Now we let the opposition worry about us," said Phil.

The two players have opposed each other before on the park — three years ago when Liverpool beat Hamburg 7-1 over two legs in the Super Cup.

"We beat them 6-0 at Anfield," recalled Phil.

"But Kevin had not been with Hamburg very long. He was still a stranger to the team and he didn't see enough of the ball.

"Now it seems as though he's buzzing again. Just playing against Liverpool will give him a boost."

Phil believes Kevin will get a good reception from both sets of supporters.

"Kevin's always been well-liked at Liverpool — they love the lad," he said.

And there's not many bigger fans than Phil's own mother . . .

"Her heart has a little flutter everytime she sees him. The first thing she does when England are playing is look for Kevin.

"I think she'll be rooting for me today . . . but only just," joked Phil.

Can you beat Paul's predictions?

HERE are ten top matches from Saturday's programme and my predicted scoreline's for each game.

There's a space for you to fill in your forecasts, one for dad and a column for the actual results.

Award yourself two points for every score you get right and one point if you get the result right (i.e. home win, away win, draw) but the score line wrong.

Carry your points total forward each week and at the end of the season you will know who the champion forecaster is . . . me, your or dad!

Next week I'll be choosing ten more top matches from up and down the country.

Writes each week

Touring can be boring. Here I am at Turin Airport before the European Championships when Kevin Keegan, Phil Thompson and I had to wait for our bags.

Football mad — that's the missus!

MY WIFE wasn't interested in football when we first met.

Now she's so keen she's prepared to travel to the away games by herself!

I met Anne at school. She was the daughter of the headmaster of my secondary school, Burnt Mill in Harlow, but it's not true that that's how I got my 'O' levels.

We started courting when I was 12 so by the time we got married — two years ago — we knew each other pretty well!

Anne first got interested in football when I became an apprentice at White Hart Lane.

Now she goes to all the home games and the away ones when the travelling is not too great.

My biggest test yet

THIS season will be the most testing of my career. It will tell me a lot about my strength, fitness and appetite for football.

I only had two weeks break in the summer and when I returned for pre-season training with Spurs it was as if I'd never been away.

The other lads had got right away from football and after their six-week holiday they were raring to pick up the ropes again.

I, too, was quite happy to return. I love football enough to want to play all the time — but whether tiredness and staleness will creep in as the season wears on I don't know.

But I'm not complaining for one minute that I only received two weeks off this summer.

I would rather have had it that way because it meant I was with the England party in Italy — an opportunity I wouldn't have missed for the world.

There was plenty of free time in Italy and it would have been easy to get bored.

But roommate Kenny Sansom and I passed the time thinking of the great occasion — and the honour of representing your country in the world's second biggest football tournament.

People talk about our long league season and there's no doubt it did affect us more than, say, the Germans or Dutch who play less games.

But I maintain that such an important occasion should be enough to motivate players over the tiredness barrier.

I really enjoyed the European Championship and it was a bonus to get a game in the final match with Spain.

Some people said I had a really good game but I wouldn't agree.

I thought I did all right, but if I'm going to be satisfied with performances like those then it's time to pack it.

That game proved to me what a great manager Ron Greenwood is.

It was my first game of the tour, my first run out for four weeks and in the heat I quickly began to flag.

Just at the moment when it really hit me, Ron Greenwood signalled to me to come off. He knew exactly how I was feeling.

Best I've played in EVERY Tottenham, Crystal Palace, game I've played in has been a cracker for entertainment... so make sure you don't miss our League Cup third round tie at White Hart Lane next week.

We, of course, have the confidence of that 4-3 victory at Selhurst Park in the second game of the season.

But Palace have so many fine

players — Vince Hilaire, Clive Allen, Mike Flanagan and Billy Gilbert to name but four, that we know it's not going to be an easy touch.

That 4-3 win was probably the best game I've ever played in. It was a humdinger and typical of all our previous tussles.

Both teams have the players to go forward — this is why we produce such good games.

Whenever I've faced Palace I've never thought we would lose — and in fact that's how it's turned out.

Davies shock for Wales

SEPTEMBER 20, 1977...
Shock for Wales as goalkeeper Dai Davies is prevented from entering Kuwait with the Welsh national team because of an Israeli stamp in his passport.

SEPTEMBER 21, 1977... Dai
Davies signs for Wrexham from Everton for £8,000.

DAI DAVIES' transfer from Everton to Wrexham went through a day earlier than expected... and all because of that Israeli stamp in his passport.

Dai was turned away from Kuwait airport with the Welsh national side because his passport showed that he had visited Israel six years earlier.

"We knew there would be trouble with my passport so we tried to pretend it had gone missing," said Dai. Apparently a Pan Arabian agreement stopped people travelling to Arab countries if they'd been to Israel.

"But I had to spend the night in the transit lounge. I got about an hour's sleep and was woken up when they started cleaning at 6.30 that morning!

"A while later two policemen with guns told me to get on the next plane to London.

"I was just very disappointed that I missed the game. It was a warm up for our vital World Cup match with Scotland and John Phillips of Chelsea had to go in goal—the game ended 0-0.

"I went to see Wrexham a day early to finalise details of my move from Everton."

SEPTEMBER 18, 1973-74 . . . Bristol City goalkeeper Ray Cashley scores a freak goal against Hull in a league match . . . his huge clearance bounces past Jeff Wealds into the Hull net.

City win 3-1 and are top of the Second Division . . .

'Keeper Cashley scores!

RAY Cashley (right) will always remember that wet and windy night at Ashton Gate, but at first he didn't believe it.

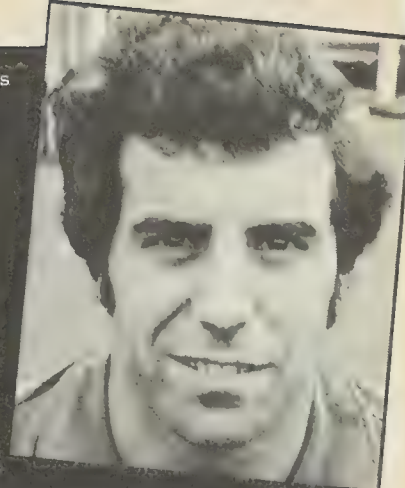

"It came in the second half of the game," recalled Ray.

"We had been 1-0 down but we equalised through Tom Ritchie.

"I got the ball and kicked it upfield. It bounced by their 18-yard box and then into the net, but I didn't think it was in.

"It wasn't until some of the lads congratulated me that I realised what I'd done. I thought the ball had hit the hoardings behind the goal and bounced back."

A couple of other goalkeepers have achieved the feat — Pat Jennings and Peter Shilton included — and just recently goalkeeper Marc de Clerck.

Aberdeen's new signing from Dutch side Twente Enschede, added his name to the list . . . by scoring on his debut direct from a clearance.

JENKINS HITS FOUR

SEPTEMBER 23, 1978 . . . Vicarage Road, Watford . . . Ross Jenkins grabs four goals in Watford's exciting 4-2 home win over Oxford . . . Watford go top of Division Three ahead of Swansea who crash 2-0 at Chester.

ROSS Jenkins doesn't have to dig very deep to recall his four fantastic goals against Oxford that day — the scrapbook on his sideboard tells him all he wants to know.

Ross (right) keeps a book of press cuttings on all his good games, and surprisingly, his bad ones as well.

But none make better reading than those goals against Oxford that set the Hornets buzzing — the only time he's nabbed four in a League game.

Ross said: "I was going through one of those purple patches when everything came off.

"Only the previous month I'd scored a hat-trick against Blackpool and a couple of games later I scored two against Tranmere.

"I think I only had four chances in the Oxford game — and stuck them all away.

"The best was definitely the third. The ball came across from the right, got a slight deflection, and landed at my feet on the edge of the penalty area.

"I chested it down, hit it first time, and it went in like a rocket."

MATCH Weekly takes on the role of 'Doctor Who' this week as we transport three star players back in time to re-live the events that put them in the news headlines . . . on this, the anniversary of those momentous soccer occasions.

SEPTEMBER 23, 1977 . . . Nottingham Forest boss Brian Clough signed midfield general Archie Gemmill today for £100,000.

Gemmill was obliged by Derby boss Tommy Docherty to sign a written transfer request and forfeit his £6,500 cut so "the supporters know the real position and do not blame us for getting rid of him."

'Keeper John Middleton makes the reverse journey as part of the deal.

Ross Jenkins — purple patch!

SEPTEMBER 20, 1979 . . . Swindon today swapped one big striker for another when they signed Andy Rowland from Bury and sold Chris Guthrie to Fulham.

Rowland is valued at £85,000 and Guthrie £65,000.

George Best . . . his favourite saying is "Two pints of lager and a packet of crisps please" according to Joanne Lines of Southampton.

Two pints of lager and a packet of crisps

"Private Life" by Grace Jones — appropriate to Kevin Keegan who doesn't get a lot of it!
 "Lip Up Fatty" by Bad Manners — a stern message to Scunthorpe's Ian Botham.
 "Two Pints Of Lager And A Packet Of Crisps Please" by Splodgeness Abounds — George Best's favourite sentence.
 Joanne Lines, Nursling, Southampton

FOUL OF THE WEEK

ALLEN HOWLER

IN THE July 5 issue of Match Weekly Trevor Haylett said that Clive Allen will score a hatful of goals for Arsenal. But for your information he didn't play a game for them, never mind score.

So what do you say about that, Trevor?

Stuart Lawrence (16), Bootle, Merseyside.

● Not even I could be considered wise enough to predict that Clive would never play for Arsenal. But I'm still backing him to score a hatful of goals.

League Cup killer

HAVING two legs in the second round of the League Cup kills off the chances of the smaller clubs making Cup upsets which they depend upon to survive.

It also takes away the sudden death excitement for the fans.

Chris Garvey (15), Wembley, Middlesex.

● I, too, missed the sudden death excitement but reckon that clubs like Bradford, Peterborough, Blackpool, Cambridge etc were glad of the two legs.

It will give them more money and a chance to SURVIVE financially — a word you yourself used.

Oh, by the way — have you forgotten Watford.

Lowly teams entertain

I KNOW you think the English First Division is one of the best in the world but I can think of a better one — the Fourth Division.

Last season it produced more goals than the First and was a revelation compared to the "Stop the opposition at all costs" tactics.

I'd much rather watch my team York play than go to a dull, defensive First Division game.

So would a lot of people, as proved by the fact that Division One gates were down last season but the Fourth went up.

Andrew Meek (15), Acomb, York.

● I reckon you're standing on 'yer head son.

Poor Bradford

THE two-leg League Cup business is trash. Poor Bradford City, if their game with Liverpool had been just one leg they would have gone through.

It's good when the big teams lose out — they shouldn't have another bite at the cherry.

Daniel Fenton, Hatfield Peverel, Essex.

● You don't honestly think Liverpool would have lost if it had just been a one-leg game do you?

Boots are made for walking BOB HATTON

NOW about this for my all-time top ten record chart?

1. "Help" — Malcolm Allison
 2. "Money, Money, Money" — Clive Allen
 3. "What's Another Year" — Geoff Hurst
 4. "Tears" — Paul Allen
 5. "Back Home" — Kevin Keegan
 6. "These Boots Are Made For Walking" — Bob Hatton
 7. "We Don't Talk Anymore" — Garry Birtles to Brian Clough
 8. "I Won't Forget You" — Stan Bowles to Brian Clough
 9. "I'm Into Something Good" — Kenny Serrano
 10. "Wonder" — Brian Clough

£10 winner

Keegan won't score — but Saints will

KEVIN Keegan will not score many goals for Southampton this season for one reason — he'll be too tightly marked.

Teams will have at least two defenders on Keegan and it will allow the rest of the Southampton strikers free to strike.

Managers will be in a dilemma what to do as Keegan is deadly if left unmarked. But if they mark him tightly it will create chances for others.

Maybe this is what Mr McMenemy bought him for. Dennis Billing (14), Newton Abbott, S. Devon

Bowles made me fume

AFTER reading Stan Bowles' guest column in Match (August 23) I was fuming when I read he chose Orient instead of Sheffield Wednesday because it didn't occur to him that Wednesday were promoted to the Second Division last year.

Surely one should think about a club's standing before joining it as a professional's career could take so many twists and turns.

It's a pity he didn't think up a better excuse.

Gordon, Joe – guts of United

ELLAND ROAD, Leeds, has not been a cheerful place these last few weeks, with their struggling early season form leading to the resignation of manager Jimmy Adamson.

But I must look at our visit there on Saturday professionally and say that we'll be out to make sure the gloom does not lift at the expense of two points gained from Manchester United.

It's sad when a great club like Leeds finds itself at the foot of the First Division and I know that my team-mates Gordon McQueen, Joe Jordan and Jimmy Greenhoff, all ex-Leeds players, have been watching developments with special interest.

Gordon and Joe would love to be back against their old club on Saturday but their respective knee and ankle ligament injuries are likely to sideline them for a little while yet, leaving Jimmy to make the return trip and another duel with his brother Brian — a former Old Trafford idol.

The loss of Gordon and Joe in the opening weeks of the season has been a key reason for our scoring only four goals in the first five games.

Shooting

It's asking a lot when those two Scots, the guts of our team, are ripped out and then injury robbed us of Ray Wilkins, the heart, too. But we're grown-ups at Old Trafford, we've talked about our problems and we think we have done something about it by stepping up our shooting practice and snuffing out the temptation to walk the ball into the net.

Three years ago we scored seven in two games against Leeds. On Saturday we'll be looking to make a good start to a repeat performance — and at least get revenge for that 2-0 defeat in the final game of last season.

Right: Steve Coppell . . . on the look out for goals at Leeds.

How to describe a footballer

GARY Bailey and I share a great interest in sports science and attended a series of lectures at Salford University recently.

We found it fascinating but I was particularly intrigued by a handbook I picked up in which a University professor asked students to find different words to describe footballers.

As you can see from the list below, they weren't complimentary and no way am I going to name any players I think would fit the bill — I might have to face them one day!

But just for fun I'd like you to suggest some names and send them to me and I'll send a prize to the ones I think are most amusing.

Argumentative Quarrelsome
Complaining Show-off
Emotional Temperamental
Irritable Touchy

Incidentally, the students were also asked to find adjectives to describe cricketers. They came up with . . . calm, cautious, civilised, dignified, formal, leisurely, methodical, patient, quiet, relaxed, self controlled, snobbish! Rugby players they described as . . . aggressive, strong and tough.

I look forward to your suggestions, sent to me c/o Match Weekly, Midgate House, Midgate, Peterborough.

Pleased for Rix, Gates

OF COURSE, I was disappointed not to get the nod for my 26th England cap in the World Cup qualifier with Norway.

But it is always a privilege to be in the squad and I was delighted for Graham Rix and Eric Gates who deservedly gained their first caps and looked impressive in the 4-0 defeat of Norway.

After training on the Monday before the match the squad went along for a sneak preview of the new FA coaching films that have been made in conjunction with the BBC.

There are 14 in the series,

Jimmy Greenhoff fires in a shot against Sunderland. Now he comes face to face with brother Brian at Leeds.

featuring Kevin Keegan, Trevor Brooking, Luther Blissett, Peter Shilton and Vince Hilaire as well as Ron Greenwood, Bobby Robson and Ron Atkinson. After they have been shown on TV around Christmas the films will be available for clubs and schools to buy.

Don't miss them when they are shown, there's some first class advice and great entertainment.

Hat-trick Heroes

THREE more top strikers recall the magic of scoring three goals in a game . . .

The most incredible week of my career

Paul Mariner (Ipswich)

MILLIONS of television viewers watched stunned as Ipswich hit high-flying Manchester United with a six goal blitz.

And they marvelled at the skills of England striker Paul Mariner who bagged three of the goals in that, now famous, 6-0 drubbing at Portman Road last season.

Yet Paul rates his hat-trick that day a poor third in his record of three-goal displays.

"I have scored three hat-tricks for Ipswich and my first will always stand out in my memory. It happened during the most incredible week of my career.

"I had just been called up for England and was still on cloud nine on the night of our First Division clash with West Ham United.

"I was feeling great before the match — and exceeded my wildest dreams during the game."

Paul remembers one goal in particular on that emotion-packed night. "I bent a long range shot past their keeper Mervyn Day."

Ipswich finished convincing 4-1 winners over the Hammers. The other goal was an own goal.

"Another hat-trick that had a special meaning for me was during our FA Cup year when I got three during our 6-1 quarter final win over Millwall.

"Scoring a hat-trick means everything to a striker. One goal is good, two tremendous — but three in a game is really special," added Paul.

Above: Ipswich and England striker Paul Mariner saved one of his best performances to celebrate news of his international call-up. He hammered three past West Ham United at Portman Road.

The goals Shilton won't talk about

IAN WALLACE Forest

THERE was one topic of conversation definitely barred by Peter Shilton when Ian Wallace joined forces with him at Nottingham Forest — the day Wallace struck three goals past him.

"We haven't mentioned it at all," Ian told Match. "I think Peter wants to keep quiet about it!"

That hat-trick came in April, 1977, when Ian was starring for Coventry and Peter was keeping goal for Stoke.

His only other Football League hat-trick came two years later against Southampton — but he rates the Stoke one the best.

"After all it's not many times you score three past a 'keeper of Peter's calibre," Ian chuckled.

"Before I came to Forest I rated Peter on a par with Ray Clemence. But after playing with him in training and in matches there's no doubt in my mind that he's the best."

Ian's performance against Southampton was brought to a thrilling climax with the third, the result of a run from the half-way line.

Cup tie treble took us to Wembley

SOUTHAMPTON'S FA Cup fifth round replay with West Brom at The Dell was just 30 seconds old when Mick Channon struck for the first time.

Mick collected the ball on the left hand side of the penalty area, stole half a yard on his marker and a split second later the ball was nestling in the far corner of the net.

MICK CHANNON
Southampton

It was a goal which put Mick on the road to the "most important" hat-trick of his distinguished career. "The second came from a through pass from David Peach," recalled Mick.

"I sidestepped Roger Osborne in the West Brom goal and knocked it in.

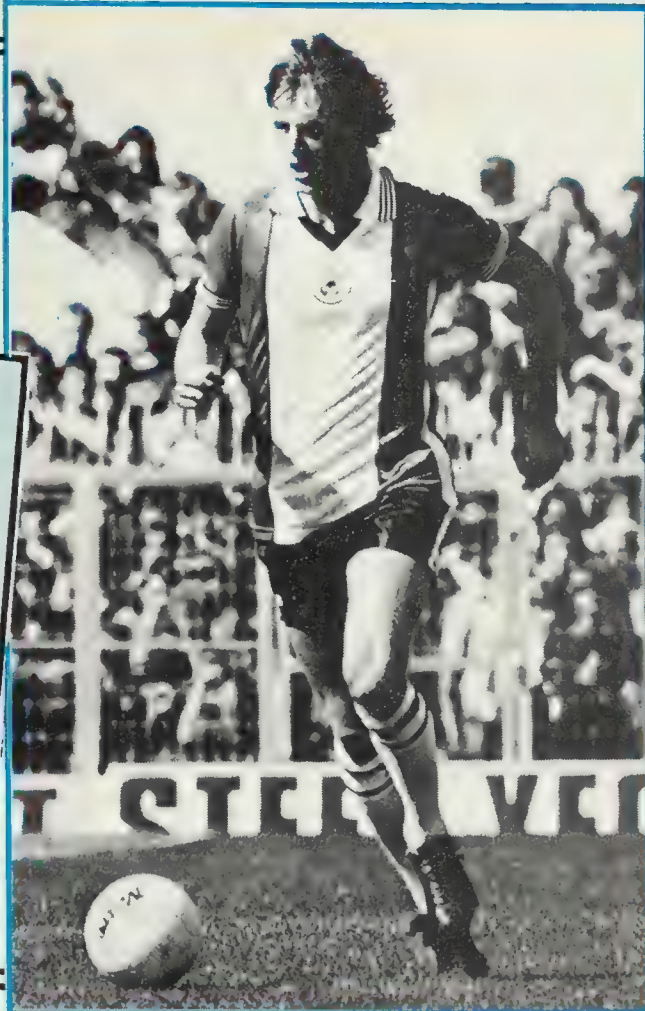

"Number three came from the penalty spot after Ally Robertson brought me down.

"Paul Gilchrist grabbed another for us and we finally won 4-0.

"It was the most important hat-trick because we went on to win the Cup that year against Manchester United (season 1975-76).

"I suppose I must have scored five or six hat-tricks in my career but I've had plenty of two's with opportunities to score three."

Right: Saints' Mick Channon — the match was only 30 seconds old when he struck.

WORLD OF...

DID YOU identify the man in the iron mask we pictured in last week's issue? If not it was none other than Stoke City's no-nonsense defender Alan Dodd, a keen collector of antiques like this centuries old helmet and breastplate (right).

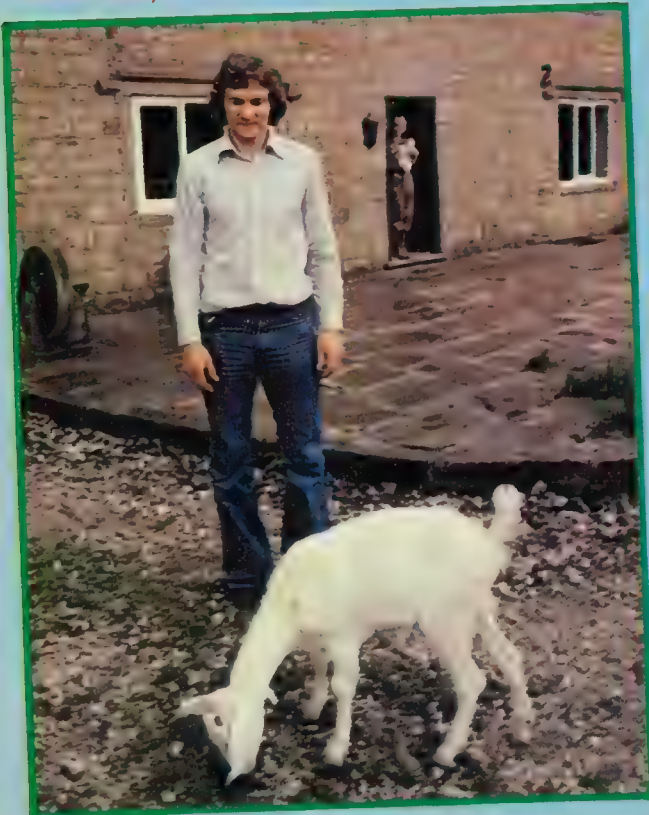

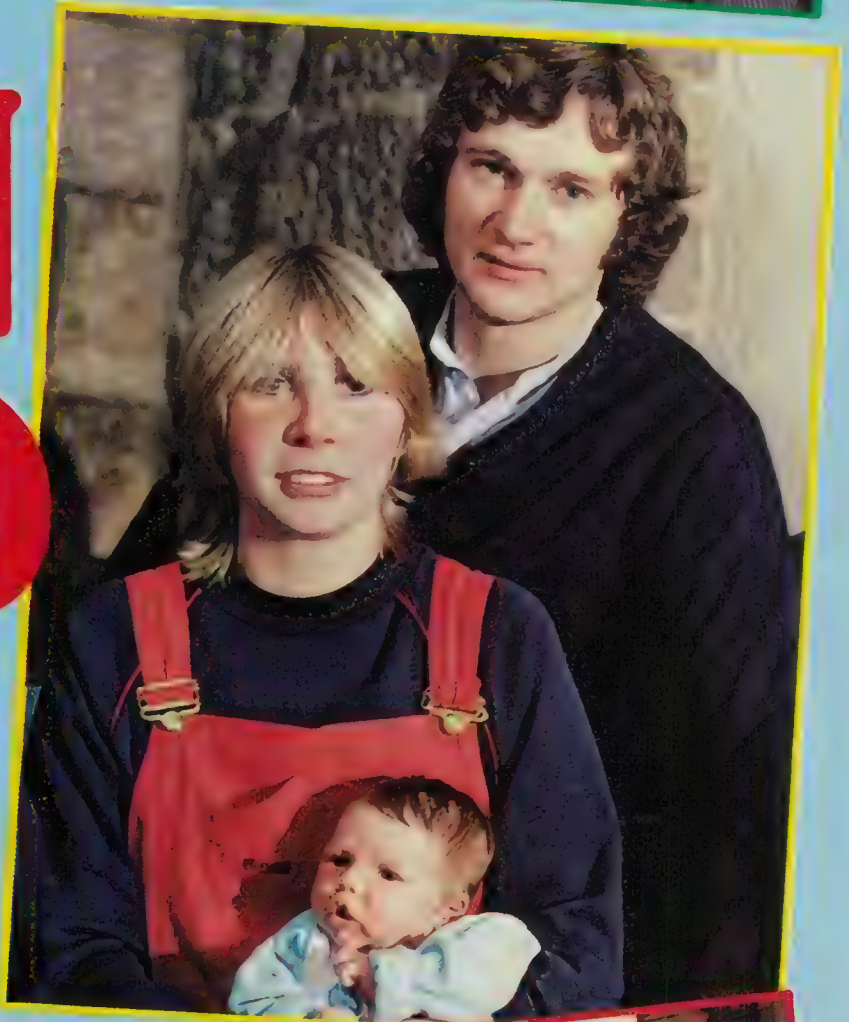

Alan invited the Match cameras to visit his home in the Staffordshire countryside, where he lives with his wife Elaine and baby son Alan junior (below right).

On our arrival he was repairing the fence at his home but was quick to point out that he hopes not to have to spend too much time repairing de-fence at Stoke!

Tackle a Star

WHAT do you enjoy doing when you're not playing football? What's the best goal you've scored? How did you become a professional player? These are just some of the many questions Match readers have asked their favourite stars.

Now here's your chance to ask a question and you can earn yourself £2 in the process.

That's what we'll pay for every question published.

And that means you'll get your very own personal reply in the pages of Match.

So get thinking and get writing to: Tackle a Star, Match Weekly, Midgate House, Midgate, Peterborough.

JEFFREY THOMPSON, Dumfries, Scotland:

Do you have a system for saving penalty kicks?

RAY: Not really Jeffrey. If a 'keeper is seen to take a penalty I'm usually told which side of the 'keeper he puts it and occasionally the way a player runs at the ball gives you some idea.

You have to make up your mind which way you are going to go, always remembering that there's more pressure on the taker than the 'keeper.

ROGER SUTCLIFFE: Barnsley, Yorks:

How do you keep your concentration during a game when the ball is at the other end?

RAY: By positioning myself around the 18-yard line and trying to keep myself involved in the game Roger.

I try and adjust my position in line with the position of the ball, even though it's in the opposition half.

I don't need to tell you how quickly the ball can move from one end of the field to the other.

THIS IS AN OFFICIAL FOOTBALL LEAGUE PROMOTION

WILLIAM HENNESSY, Maghull, Liverpool:

What do you remember of your debut at Anfield?

RAY: I had a nightmare William! It was against Swansea in the third round of the League Cup during season 1968-69.

We won 2-0 but it was lashing down with rain and there was a gale force wind.

I don't think I made any mistakes but obviously it was a nervous time.

SIMON CASTLE, Fulham, London:

Who was your boyhood hero and which player do you admire most now?

RAY: Gordon Banks was always my hero as a kid. I think he was the best 'keeper there has ever been and it will be very difficult for anyone to equal him.

Now I have a lot of admiration for Arsenal 'keeper Pat Jennings. He just keeps going and getting better.

Pat's hands are like shovels! He catches shots that most of us are happy to just block.

RANZI ZAHED, Beirut, Lebanon:

Which match do you consider you played best in and what is the best save you have made?

RAY: One of the performances I was most pleased with Rani came in an FA Cup sixth round replay against Spurs at White Hart Lane in 1971.

I don't usually get overworked playing for Liverpool but I was kept quite busy in that match. I managed to keep a clean sheet and we won 1-0.

One of my best saves came when I was playing for England against Scotland a couple of seasons ago.

Someone hit a shot from about 20 yards and it was deflected off Dave Watson's head.

I managed to change direction and turn the ball round the post for a corner.

We won the game 3-1 but that save was made more important by the fact that Scotland were 1-0 up at the time.

MORE MATCH FACTS OVER THE PAGE

We're on our way!

ENGLAND raised the curtains on our campaign to reach the World Cup finals for the first time since 1970 with a workmanlike dismissal of the Norwegian part-timers at Wembley.

And Scotland and Eire made it a great night for home nations with World Cup triumphs over former runners-up Sweden and Holland.

Arsenal's Graham Rix and Eric Gates of Ipswich stepped up for impressive England debuts, not content to hide in the shadows as so many before them, but it was Paul Mariner who caught the eye, leading the front line with energy and strength, to lay on a goal for Woodcock, win a penalty for McDermott's second of the night and crown his fine display with a sizzling solo effort.

Spain, here we come!

Top: Eric Gates shows the pace which had Norwegian nerves on edge during his debut.

Above: Graham Rix . . . set up Terry McDermott's opening goal in an impressive debut.

Programme Guide

THE IPSWICH Town programme is only the third to come under Match Weekly's critical eye . . . but already we think we've found the best in the League.

For content, colour, and design it takes a lot of beating. Not one of the 36 pages can be ignored and at 30 pence it's good value for money.

Ipswich's match-day magazine is the only one in the First Division to incorporate a new 16-page insert.

In the programme we looked at — Ipswich v Everton — it included Dave Watson talking about England's failure in Italy, the Phil Neal life story and Bobby Robson urging our need to produce the complete footballer — features of interest to any football fan.

It makes for better pre-match reading than the insert used by the majority of other First Division sides.

Interesting articles are the star spot — putting a Town player under the spotlight — the captain's page, and a spread of action pictures.

The use of colour and design are superb but in some instances the size of the words are a bit small — making it difficult to read in a jostling crowd.

Programme rating:
 Superb; * Good;
 Satisfactory;  Poor;
* Terrible.

David Hodgson (right) gets some close attention from Wolves' stalwart Emlyn Hughes.

Best left foot in the business says David Hodgson

"HE'S GOT probably the best left foot in the business, has Spikey!

"I don't know where he got the nickname, but we're always saying in training, 'Come on, Spikey, wave that magic wand' and he'll turn it on.

"He's got tremendous vision and spots situations faster than anyone.

"I'll always remember one goal he created for me last season against Everton — in fact it's shown on the opening credits of the Look North TV soccer programme each week.

"Spikey picked the ball up just inside his own half and was being forced out wide by two defenders, when he suddenly cut the ball back with that magic left foot right into my path and I hit it in first time with my right."
